Appreciation = To Know the Value of Something

We have observed an annual Hoonko-service at Vancouver Buddhist Church on January 15. This is a memorial service for Shinran Shonin. It amazes me that Shinran Shonin lived almost 800 years ago and still continued to be remembered his life today.

As we live our inevitable changes and challenges each day, we try to see what a value of our lives is. When our Dharma eyes open, we see clearly that life is constantly changing. Nothing can last forever. When our eyes are opened to this, we begin to see that we cannot help but to live deeply appreciating to people whom we love, to friends whom we have, and for a moment that we are able to live. We often hear that the life of Nembutsu, Namo Amida Butsu, is a life of our appreciation.

But what is appreciation?

We use and hear this word very often. We talk about it especially when we come to hear the Buddha-Dharma. I thought that we have heard this word very much, but we didn't really think about what it meant.

I looked up Webster's Dictionary what is appreciation? It was very interesting because it was very simple definition that I have found. According to the dictionary, appreciation means, "to know the value of something." I think that when we know the value of something, then we are able to begin to treasure and cherish it.

Real treasures of our lives are not that we own or worth little money, but real treasures are the people. People in our lives, it gives meaning and value to the wonderful life that we are able to live in each day.

VBC Nirvana Day & February Shotsuki

On Nirvana Day, also known as Nihan-e, we observe the passing of Sakayamuni into Nirvana. Although he attained enlightenment and became a Buddha, he was still in his earthly form. This earthly form, subject to birth and death, had to perish, but his Teaching embodying the spirit of Buddhahood is eternal.

The February Shotsuki Service is for those who wish to remember family members who have passed away during the month of February.

Wednesday, February 15, 11:00 am

Nikkei Home Monthly Service (Rev. Kikuchi)

Saturday, February 18, 9:00 am

Manju making for the Spring Bazaar.

Sunday, February 19, 10:30 am

Dharma School Service—special guest this day is Ken Furukawa. He will be demonstrating the art of origami (paper folding)

Dharma School News

A number of Dharma School students, teachers, and parents tried their hands, or rather, their feet at snow shoeing on Seymour Mountain on January 22nd after Sunday morning service at the otera. Read about their experience on the mountain in the articles that follow.

For February, Dharma School is planning a visit to Steveston otera on the 26th to join in their 10:30 a.m. morning service with their new minister, Kikuchi Sensei. We hope for a good turnout of students, teachers and parents.

Thoughts.....

“I want world peace cuz it’s cool!

“Snowshoeing was fun, but tubing would be better, and skiing would be even better.”

New Year’s Resolution: “I will tell people to stop smoking by telling them to stop.”

“On new Year’s Day I usually wake up and have ozoni for breakfast then leave to go to church. After church, my family and I go to my Baachan’s for dinner. We eat lots of Japanese foods including sashimi, sushi, teriyaki chicken and more. Then later on my sisters and I usually watch movie and then go to bed.”

“On New Year’s Day we came to church to celebrate in joy. At church we had a service and listened to Reverend Aoki tell us how you can go to UBC to ring the gong. When you ring the gong you make a wish for the new year. Aoki Sensei said little girls to and ring the gong and wish for a boyfriend. We chanted Sambujo and Shoshinge. After the service we proceeded to the social hall for socialization. Go around saying “Happy New Year!” Sake was served as well as yummy punch. New Year’s is a great way to meet new people and have fun with those you care about. It is also a way that we can have some quality time with the family.”

New Year’s Resolution: “This year, I resolve to phone my grade 7 friends more, lately I’ve been to busy to talk to them and I think they feel offended... Ah, I know, straight A;s! Yeah, that sounds good, that’ll be it, well, if I can get an “A” in PE (I usually get a “B” if I’m lucky). Other than that, I’m sure I can do it! Too bad, can’t think of any more resolutions... perhaps join a couple of school clubs, maybe badminton team trials.”

“For New Years I want lots of fire, firecrackers, and/or fireworks because it’s cool. Light, heat, and big bangs are so cool.”

Happy New Year to you all the friends of Dharma across Canada. As I write this letter, 744th Hoonko Service is being observed in Kyoto since Jan 9th till 16th. I would like to join with you in giving our thoughts to the life of Shinran Shonin (1173-1262) and express our sincere appreciation to him for showing us the way of Nembutsu, which is the calling of Amida Buddha and at the same time our response of appreciation for the Boundless Compassion. Although we are imperfect and ordinary human beings, we are assured to attain Nirvana in the Pure Land, which gives us constant hope and strength until the day we close our lives. Let us walk and work together each and every day and make it a wonderful new year.

Mrs. Hide Kagetsu, one of the few surviving pioneers in Vancouver, passed away on Dec 5, 2005 at the age of 100 years.

Rev. Yutetsu Kawamura who was also pioneer minister passed away on Dec 18 at the age of 97 years. He served in Raymond, Alberta and Maple Ridge, B.C. before the war and Picture Butte in Alberta and Hawaii before retiring in Raymond. He received Order of Canada in 1984, Order of Japan in 1986, Alberta Centennial Medal in 2005, as well as Hongwanji Ingo (posthumous honourable title). I had honour to assist Izumi Sensei at the memorial service in Raymond on Dec 23, 2005.

Mr Kenzo Teramura, who passed away in August, 2005 at the age of 80 in Winnipeg, is to be presented with Ingo in his honour from Buddhist Churches of Canada.

An Introduction to Sutra Chanting

To chant the sutras is to reverently read aloud the teachings of Shakyamuni, the historical Buddha who lived over 2,500 years ago. The sermons that he gave are called sutras and to recite or chant the sutras is to read aloud the Buddha's teachings with one's innermost heart in "praising the virtues of the Buddha."

To understand the feeling of such an expression ("to praise the virtues of the Buddha") is to hear the "calling voice" of Amida Buddha. To chant the sutra is a total act of gratitude, for here the sound of chanting the sutras is none other than the calling voice of Amida Buddha (Namoamidabutsu) reverberating through the sutra. It is to know that the working of Amida Buddha's power is the joy of reciting the sutra.

(from Traditions of Jodoshinshu Hongwanji-Ha by Masao Kodani and Russell Hamada)

Sutra chanting is a distinct practice in Jodo Shinshu Buddhism, in which the words of the Buddha are to be read aloud with one's innermost heart in praising the virtues of Amida Buddha. The harmonious sound of chanting lead many followers to awaken to the wisdom and compassion of Amida Buddha and to listen to the teachings. Their gratitude to Amida Buddha is expressed through chanting.

All of the services in Hongwanji tradition begin with the chanting of the sutra. In chanting the sutras, we must bear in mind the following points:

- Before the chanting begins, the Nembutsu is recited a number of times together with the ministers and the congregation
- The sutra book is raised to the forehead before it is opened in order to pay respect to the words of the Buddha.
- The ministers and the congregation chant in harmony. Each individual should listen to the voices of others so that he may be in tune with them.
- When the chanting is finished, the service book is closed and placed again to the forehead as a gesture of appreciation and reverence.

(from Jodo Shinshu Seiten)

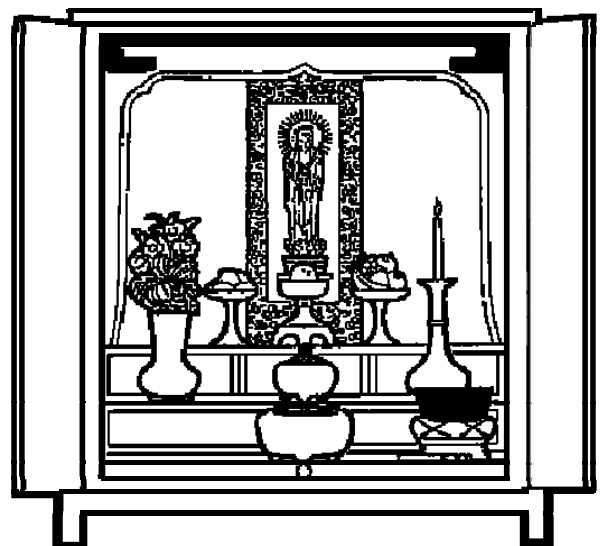

Most Jodo Shinshu sutras are in Chinese. The purple, hard-covered, Jodo Shinshu Seiten contains English translations of the Shoshinge, Junirai, Sanbutsuge, Juseige, San Bu Jo, and the Bussetsu Amida Kyo.

The Buddhist Altar Sunday, February 19, 2006

What is the meaning of offering flowers, incense, and light?

What should you know about setting up a family shrine?

Immediately following the morning service, Reverend Aoki will lead a workshop to explain the inside of the Buddhist Altar. Come learn about the various parts of the altar.
